NOTES ABOUT OUR CATALOG

2012 marks the 34th year we have been in business selling craft supplies. We want to thank all of those loyal customers throughout the USA as well as those from other countries who have found that we can help in their cultural arts. You continue to be the link we have to people in your communities that can use our help as well.

On the cover this year we have Billy Daniels and daughter, Isabella. Another example of how Native families are passing their cultural heritage along to the next generation. The Daniels family, which includes wife and mother Alyce, are members of the Forest County Potawatomi Tribal Community that is next to Crandon, Wisconsin. We thank Alyce for helping us organize the photo shoot that we took this fall in the "back yard" of the Tribal office complex east of Crandon. Billy is the Language and Cultural Director and Teacher there, passing on his knowledge as a dancer, singer, speaker and spiritual leader of his people and to the next generation. The floral beadwork and otter fur pieces that he wears speaks of the traditions of the Woodland people.

Isabella is in third grade. We see her here in her traditional two piece leather dress, a style that goes back many generations among the women of the Great Lakes area. Her beaded crown represents her completion of a year as the Mno-Kno-Ma-Ge-Wen Junior Princess. Yet she has clothing for all three women dance styles and has learned those traditions. Active in many community social help programs, she is currently a National American Miss State Ambassador. Megwetch to the Daniels!

www.nocbay.com is a full service Web-store that we continue to work on to enhance its ability to be a good shopping place. Besides adding video lessons, we now have a special gift idea page. Through the year, we will add more features, offer more specials and closeout sales, and provide more lessons in crafting. If you ever have a problem using the site, let us know and we will do what needs to be done to correct the problem.

Besides visiting us at www.nocbay.com, if you are ever in the Escanaba vicinity, stop in at 1133 Washington Avenue and see our store display, one block east of U.S. 2 and 41, and in sight of the entrance to the U.P. State Fair grounds.

With changing supplies comes changing designs.

It has always been this way, at least more rapidly since the beginning of the trade era. New available items mean new creative ways to decorate crafts, jewelry, clothing and accessories. Today the rapidly changing world market means that some things that were used traditionally in the past are now gone, but new items that become available, with the skill of the artist, becomes part of the community's contemporary traditions. Look for the new items in our catalog and at our web store to give you new ideas for the next generations.

FUR FABRICS

Fur Fabrics are being offered to substitute for real furs that are now difficult to get because of high prices or lack of supply. These fabrics are very real looking and will still allow for making some of the traditional crafts and dance clothing like turbans, bags, bandoliers, anklets, leggings, and decorations on items. It can be sewn in place or glued with tacky glue or contact cement. They are made in the USA.

FUR FABRIC TRAPPER PELT 2570.++

We picked this dark brown fur fabric because it closely resembles the dark brown along the center back of beaver and otter marketed here in the trade era of the Great Lakes region. Turbans, vestments, and bags were a part of the traditional crafted clothing items made from those furs.

The hair pile length for this fur fabric is 1 1/8 inches with shorter under fur. We cut the pieces supplied so that the fur hangs from top to bottom as they would when holding the pelts by the head end. A fur fabric piece that can be used in crafts simulating otter pelts is cut 4 inches wide and 60 inches long. They can be used for turbans, dance daggers, braid wraps, breast plates, and sashes. A beaver sized piece that measures 20 inches wide and 30 inches long allows for the wider cut items. Bulk yardage pieces are cut from a 60 inch wide fabric bolt.

- 06 Otter 6"x60" $6.00/each
3 or more $5.40/each
- 20 Beaver 20"x30" $9.00/each
3 or more $8.10/each
- 01 Bulk Pelt 60"x1yd $21.50/yard

FUR FABRIC ANKLETS AND LEGGINGS

For decades now, many of the men's dance clothing styles have featured anklets and leggings made of shaggy sheep hides, and famously included imported long hair angora goat hides. Fancy dance styles evolving from the early 1940's used sheep hide shaggy hair leggings that started at the knees. Today these natural hides are getting difficult to get so we are offering a very likeable Fur Fabric Shag in two natural colors.

FUR FABRIC SHAG WHITE 2560.++

This shag style is bright white. The hair pile length is 3 3/8 inches. The fabric pieces are cut so the hair hangs from top to bottom when used as leggings or anklets.

- 04 4"x30" piece $3.00/each for 3+ $2.70/each
- 15 15"x18" pair $12.00/pair for 3+ $10.80/pair
- 01 1 yard x 60" $24.60/yd

FUR FABRIC SHAG PALOMINO 2561.++

This natural palomino hair has a darker brown underlayerment of base hair. The long hair pile length is 3 3/8 inches. We think this will be a great color option for traditional styles. See prices above.

FUR FABRIC RABBIT 2550.++*****

These fabric pieces are provided in a 12 inch by 15 inch piece that are as large as most rabbit craft pelts, and also by the yard that is 60 inches wide. The hair direction runs from top to bottom, as in head to tail of the real rabbit. We have chosen five colors that remind us of some of the natural colored furs we had in the past. A great product for school and youth group projects.

The hair pile length for this fur fabric is 1 5/8 inch.

- 12 12"x15" piece $1.95/each
3 or more $1.75/each
- 01 1 yard x 60" $16.85/yd

Glues are a basic tool for finishing most of the projects in this catalog. We have tested and used all of the glues we supply and can recommend them for your projects if you carefully follow the instructions that come on the package. There are, however, two categories you need to consider. The non-toxic group are water soluble and can be effectively used in schools and institutions. The other category are glues that dry faster or harder but have toxic qualities from petroleum distillates they contain and can be a danger if misused. Shop carefully. Use Carefully.

NON -TOXIC CRAFT GLUES

These glues are safe for schools and institutional use. We have conducted tests and found that they will do the feather, wood, and leather work for Native crafts but just need more time to set up.

EXTRA HEAVY TACKY GLUE 2415.++

Tacky glue works very well for feather work as it dries clear and flexible. Quick setting. Useful for gluing fabrics. We use it for all feather to feather gluing or adding fabrics or thread wrappings to the feather work. 100% Non-Toxic.

FINISHED HAND DRUMS

8525.++

While we have long encouraged making your own drums using our supplies, instructions, and kits, we understand that sometimes this isn't possible. We are now offering two sizes of the single head drums with very strong frame and lacing. A 13 inch diameter drum and a 15 inch diameter one.

The frame is solid wood, 3/4 inch thick with a 2 1/2 inch depth. Saw cuts half way through the rim's wood allow it to be bent and glued, with overlap tapered ends finishing the circle.

Rawhide head and lacing is from domestic cowhide and is slightly transparent. The circular lacing and wrapped center gives the drum a strong sound in both sizes.

- 13 13 inch diameter hand drum $58.00 each
  - 15 15 inch diameter hand drum $65.00 each
- Drumstick is not included. See Pg 3 for hand Drumstick kits.*

Beads come in different appearances and sizes

Most of our beads are made in Czech Republic, so we use their sizing standards. The larger beads, as in the Crow beads, are sized by metric measure (mm is short for millimeter).

BEAD FINISHES

The following are common terms referring to the surface appearance and color appearance of our beads:

Opaque: Light does not pass through the bead when you hold it up to a light.

Transparent: Light passes through the bead and you can see through it like stained glass.

Pearl: A pearlized finish is opaque with a surface sheen that looks like pearls.

Lined: Lined beads have a transparent outer surface, often crystal or light shades of other colors, and a darker transparent or opaque lining around the center hole.

Luster: This finish has a glassy look with a rich color showing through that gives a hint of metallic silver sheen.

Matte: Looks like non-glare frosted glass. The colors are very soft looking.

Iris: A surface finish that looks like a variegated sheen of red, purple, blues, greens, and yellows, all laid over the base color. Other terms used are "rainbow" and "Aurora Borealis."

Metallic: A very shiny finish that looks like a metal plating, but in seed beads it is usually a coating used to simulate metal.

Rocaille: These are a very sparkling bead. Transparent on the surface, the sparkle silver lining gives a faceted look. The shape is more irregular, limiting it's use to earrings and applique beading.

3 Cut Beads: Carried mostly in transparent finish, but with some of opaque finish, in both size 12/0 and 9/0. The sparkle is provided by the cut, or flat surfaces at different angles on the surface of the bead.

Charlotte Cuts: A very uniform size #13 seed bead that also are a 3 cut bead. They are available in both opaque and transparent colors. These beads are prized for use in Peyote stitch work.

Delica: Japanese made beads that are about the diameter of the #12's.

They are very uniform, more tube shaped than Czech. This type of bead is popular for making Brick Stitch earrings.

Bugle: Most are glassy transparent tubes. Some opaque colors are available.

Pony Beads: These are of the standard opaque finish and are the largest of the seed beads. Size 6/0's measure about 3/16 inch in diameter, and 1/8 inch in width.

Crow Beads: Crow beads have a large center hole and are used as decorations like other trade beads of early times. The glass opaque and the plastic crow are about 3/8 inch in diameter and 1/4 inch in width.

ESTIMATING BEAD AMOUNTS

For information on estimating the amount of beads for a project, see our book, BEADWORKING WITH TODAY'S MATERIALS. You can also see a description of the estimating process on Page 1 of the center insert in this catalog.

ABOUT OUR BEADS

All of the glass beads we supply come from outside the US. We seek the most uniform sizing we can get, though all will vary somewhat. Being a foreign import, price changes and supply problems can be expected.

We do our best to maintain our inventory. Colors we list are those we try to maintain. Colors vary according to dye lots so try to order enough beads for each complete project.

BEAD PACKAGING

1/2 Kilo

Seed beads usually are packaged in strung hanks or packaged loose in tubes or plastic bags. The number of beads in a hank will vary by size of bead. See our chart for number of hanks in a kilo.

CHINA GLASS SEED BEAD - SIZE 10

This line of glass seed beads is produced in China. They are an excellent value because the strung hank is 12 inches long, holding approximately 1500 more beads than the Czech strung hanks. Beadworkers have found that this combination of opaque, transparent, and silver lined finish is excellent for use in floral applique beading patterns. We are starting with a popular set of colors for most applique beadwork projects. While they have more irregular beads than the Czech styles do, with some sorting they will be good for loom projects as well. The center hole will accommodate the size D Nymo thread as well as the 10 lb. Power Pro thread using the size 10 beading needles.

All are sized 10 beads. You may mix colors for quantity discount.

GLOVERS NEEDLES 2012.++

Stout needles for sewing leather. Their sharpened cutting edges cut the leather as it goes through. The most commonly used size is #6 when sewing with "F" nylon thread on buckskin. The largest size is 1 and can be used for coarse work and takes a full strand of simulated sinew. It is about 2 inches long. The size 10 can be used to sew Czech size 10 seed beads to leather and is the shortest at 1 1/4 inch long.

BIG EYE NEEDLE 2014.++

The big eye needle can solve a number of bead stringing problems. We have discovered that it can be used for as small a bead as size 11 for some applications and works fine for stringing size 10 seed beads with the heavy twisted nylon threads for necklaces and bracelets.

We supply both the 2 1/8" and the 5" lengths. The eye is actually almost as long as the length of the needle. There are no problems threading with any of the threads including fine and very fine simulated sinew. Useful in all stringing operations and many use it for loom work.

BEADING THREADS

Bonded nylon thread is the best thread for most beadwork. However, it is not recommended for the warp threads on a loom because it stretches, wrinkling the beadwork. Use cotton thread for the warp.

Thread comes in bobbins and cones. Size 00 is the finest thread and used for size 12 beads and smaller. Size 0 is used for the same projects as size 00 but is stronger.

ABOUT THE WORLD OF FEATHERS

World events this past year has greatly reduced the supply options for domestic bird feathers commonly used in Native American craft projects. We expect that changes will continue in the coming year. Because of current feather collection methods, the Turkey pointers and broadwings collected today often need their tips trimmed. Because the age of the birds collected are younger, the quills are shorter. They often need extensions. Feather trimming and extension instructions are available from our Learning Circle fliers found on page 37. We include in our 2011 catalog the products that are currently available in the supply chain, but suggest that our customers check our web store at nocbay.com for feathers and colors currently available and in stock.

TURKEY POINTERS

REPRODUCTION TRADE BROOCHES

4012.++

Trade Brooches were one of the most common ornaments on 18th century Eastern Woodlands clothing. These reproductions of 18th century sterling silver brooches once made by Montreal and Philadelphia silversmiths, are stamp cut silver plated imports that provide a low cost decorative brooch to use in the same way the original heavier sterling ones were. To mount these brooches we suggest using heavy thread that matches the fabric to sew over the pin.

ALL-WOOD HOOP - NOW IN TWO SIZES

We have had many requests for all-wood hoops, especially from those wanting a natural looking dream catcher and for those in institutions that do not allow metal hoops. They can be used in natural finish as shown, or wrapped with leather or very decoratively with Flat Fringe or ribbon. Plan on slight variations because of the natural material. Diameter size is approximate.

FEATHER STRAIGHTENING TIP

One of the safest ways to straighten turkey wing feathers is to use a clothes iron. Clamp the feathers to a piece of plywood as shown. Use the iron on high and keep moving on the heavy part of the quills. When hot, swipe across the tips with the iron and then let the feather cool slightly. Then pick up the feather and flex it past straight briefly.

SAFETY PINS

2608.02

These number 2 safety pins are sized for use on the bead bonnets used as decorations in cars. But we also have found them useful for making the loop ends for traditional bustles. To use, cut off the fastening end and the sharp point. Use some tacky glue on the feather end and let dry to tacky. Wrap the end and pin with simulated sinew. Cover all with a yarn wrapping.

ASSUMPTION SASH AND GARTERS

8508.++***

Woven sashes, head wraps, and garters were introduced into the Native cultures of the Great Lakes by the French-Canadian voyagers that plied the trade routes in the region. They quickly became popular trade items to both fur trappers and Native people there. Trading companies commissioned both European immigrants and, later, Indian women to fingerweave these sashes. Within the Native cultures, fingerweaving developed into intricate patterns and styles, and spread throughout the east. In the mid-1800's trading companies turned to machine weaving these sashes and commonly used the design made by weavers at L'Assomption, Quebec.

These authentic reproductions of the machine woven Assumption Sash and Garters are offered in both a red and a blue design.

To select color, replace *** with 081 Red and 260 Blue.

Carrying roach feathers and flat fans in your suitcase has always been a problem. Now these zip-up cases are your solution! The outside fabric is red corduroy and deep blue corduroy, or both sides are all deep blue. The inside has a lining of sponge material covered with a soft black fabric to protect your feathers. When folded and zipped shut the case is only about an inch thick. This combination of material makes the case flexible but when zipped shut, the case stiffens to protect the feathers. The width noted is the widest part of the case.
